COURSE DESCRIPTION AND OBJECTIVE

In this readings seminar of the European Middle Ages (600 c.e. to 1400 c.e.), we will explore the time period in between the fall of the Roman Empire ("Late Antiquity") until the emergence of the European Renaissance (1400s). Although we will primarily focus on the European experience, especially how Northern and Southern European peoples re-ordered their social, political, and cultural relations, we will also investigate Europeans' relationship with their sibling culture, the Islamic civilization in the Mediterranean.

The primary course objective is to expose history graduate students to the major historical themes, issues, and debates that populate medieval European historiography utilizing critical scholarly texts as well as through exposure to a broad array of narrative and non-narrative primary sources.

REQUIRED TEXTS AND READINGS

COURSE REQUIREMENTS, ASSIGNMENTS, AND ATTENDANCE

COURSE REQUIREMENTS – THREE BASIC TASKS

- Read all texts.
- Complete all assignments.
- Participate in class.

ASSIGNMENTS (SPECIFIC ASSIGNMENT INSTRUCTIONS WILL BE DISTRIBUTED IN CLASS.)

- Two (2) book reviews for any of the course’s secondary readings (15% each/30% total)
 - Each book review is limited to 1000 words and should provide a brief summary of the text, but more importantly, evaluate the author’s argument, themes, book organization, analytical methods, sources, biases, and writing style.
 - Your reviews should employ the writing guidelines set forth in the Chicago Manual of Style or Turabian’s A Manual for Writers.
 - Your reviews are due in class on the date the book is discussed.
- Two (2) primary source analyses (15% total/30% total)
 - Each primary source analysis is limited to two-to-three pages, double-spaced.
 - For each primary source analysis, select one document to evaluate. You should historically contextualize the document, discuss the content of the document and what it reveals about the Middle Ages, and identify how your own biases/perspectives might lead you to misunderstand or misinterpret the document.
 - Your analyses should employ the writing guidelines set forth in the Chicago Manual of Style or Turabian’s A Manual for Writers.
 - Your analyses are due in class on the date the primary sources are discussed.
- One (1) class facilitation and lesson plan for one class session (half of a class meeting /1 hour and 15 minutes) (20% of total)
 - Your explanatory lesson plan should include pedagogical objectives, key issues and content that you wish to convey, discussion questions for the class, and several reading selections to illustrate the primary issues raised in the text or primary source.
 - Your lesson plan should be two-to-three pages, double-spaced. However, you may include additional attachments or teaching aids.
 - Your lesson plan is due in class on the date you facilitate class.
- Preparation for class and consistent participation in class (10% of total)
 - Familiarize yourself with all readings and identify why the readings are important in medieval European historiography. Answer the question: What is special about these readings?
 - Closely-read and take notes on at least one-third of all the readings.
 - Develop thoughtful “macro” questions for all readings and intensive “micro” questions for closely-read materials.
- Brief Proposal for Spring 2012 Research Project (10% of total)
 - You will prepare a brief two-page discussion of the research project you intend to pursue during spring 2012. This proposal will identify research questions and issues, as well as provide a preliminary bibliography.
 - Your proposal is due via email (rmartin8@uccs.edu) on Monday, December 12, 2011, at 5 pm.

ATTENDANCE

If you must be absent, you may receive an excused absence if you provide a valid doctor's note or another verification from a school official (for extracurricular activities). Also, when possible, please notify me via email if you know you will be absent from class. If you have more than two unexcused absences then you will receive an automatic failure for the course. Class attendance is not optional.

MY TEACHING PHILOSOPHY, ELECTRONIC DEVICES, STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES, AND ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

TEACHING PHILOSOPHY

My teaching philosophy focuses on three elements: personal best efforts, improvement, and engagement. Although I must evaluate your work in relationship to your peers, I am most interested in your personal effort to do your best. I absolutely take into consideration your improvement over time and the level of effort you dedicate to your work. If I see that you are working hard in the course, I will reward you for that effort. If I see that your work stagnates or that you repeatedly do not attempt to respond to my comments on your papers, your grades will suffer. Your assignments will be assigned either a number or letter grade. For grade calculation purposes, I will use the following letter-number equivalents: A+ (above 97), A (93-96), A- (90-92), B+ (87-89), B (83-86), B- (80-82), C+ (77-79), C (73-76), C- (70-72), D+ (67-69), D (63-66), D- (60-62), and F (below 60). Most assignments will be graded and returned to you within two weeks of the date that you turned in the assignment. Although I do not use a bell-curve when assigning grades, through teaching experience I have learned that most graduate students earn low B's on their first and second assignments. However, I typically see most students' grades on future assignments rapidly improve by a letter grade after this point.

ELECTRONIC DEVICES IN THE CLASSROOM

You are permitted to use a laptop or tablet to take notes in class, but you should disable your wireless Internet access unless we are utilizing the Internet for a classroom task. In addition, during class you should keep your mobile phone in your bag and muted or off. I reserve the right to ask you to leave the classroom if you cannot follow these requirements as well as you will be assigned an unexcused absence for the day.

STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES

If you have a disability for which you are requesting an accommodation, you are encouraged to contact Disability Services within the first week of classes. Disability Services is located in Main Hall #105. The DS phone # is 255-3354. Additional information can be found at <http://www.uccs.edu/~dservice/index.htm>.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

You are expected to abide by the university's Student Code of Conduct and policies pertaining to academic integrity. All cases of academic dishonesty, cheating, and plagiarism will be handled per the university's policies. You should complete all of your assignments independently, unless you are given specific instructions to the contrary. For the specifics of Student Code of Conduct, please read <http://www.uccs.edu/~dos/studentconduct/studentcode.htm>. More information on academic dishonesty can be found at <http://www.uccs.edu/~dos/studentconduct/academicdishonesty.html>.
